VINYL LOVERS' TOUR GUIDE

DIGGERS LEGEND:

SECONDHAND VINYL LP/EP/45

NEW VINYL / CDs / DVDs

BOOKS / MUSIC RELATED & MORE

Touring record stores is a great way to see a city. This guide is put together with that in mind and uses Sydney's CBD as a starting point. You'll also find some useful transport tips under all the regional subheadings. For those shops further afield, overnighters may be in order, but hey, the promise of a crate at the end of the rainbow might just be enough to tip the scales in favour of an adventure!

SYDNEY (CBD)

We start in the middle of Sydney's CBD at Town Hall. Right behind the Queen Victoria Building you'll find Red Eye Records. From here you have two options. Head North to Birdland, Mojo Record Bar & Marlowe's Way, the last two of which can also serve you a refreshing beverage. This will place you in the vicinity of Darling Harbour and Circular Quay, from where you can take ferries to all sorts of great places around greater Sydney, including the stunning journey out to Parramatta's Beatdisc.

From Town Hall you can also saunter south to Utopia and Lawson's Records where you will find yourself in the bustling and thriving China, Korea, Japan and Thai Towns. Here you can feast mightily, buy worldly groceries, fashion, tech, you name it.

EASTSIDE

Eastside is Sydney's independent & creative alter ego. Less than a kilometre east from the CBD, it's just a short walk across the parks or up the hill from China Town to get to a 4km long ridge of indie retail, food, drink, night spots and boutique hotels.

The most obvious way to go Eastside is Oxford Street which starts at the South-east corner of Hyde Park. Just a couple of blocks up Oxford, turn right into Crown Street to get to the Record Store, TITLE Store and Suzie Q's in Surry Hills, or go a little further along Oxford St and turn left on Darlinghurst Road (just after Taylor Square) to get you to Radio Free Alice. Cut one block East to Victoria Street, which is a foodie's dream and then head North to Grand Days which is just near the Coke sign in Kings Cross.

NORTHERN SUBURBS

Sydney's North is loosely divided by Middle Harbour into the North Shore and the Northern Beaches. The Northern Beaches are a little tricky to get to seeing as how there is no train line and so a bus or ferry you'll have to take or the traffic you'll have to brave. This is, however, an excellent day trip and buses and ferries are frequent; then again you could always book an overnight stay up that way because the Northern Beaches are one of Sydney's beautiful natural wonders, and between Desire, Sandy's Music, Audiomania and Pacific Records they have the coast covered in wax.

NEWTOWN

Only a couple of train stops from the Sydney CBD and just beyond the University of Sydney is Newtown, the gateway to Sydney's Bohemian heart: the Inner West. Newtown's main drag, King Street, has a fantastic cluster of record shops around the station – you can walk in almost any direction and find yourself a vinyl retailer! The area is replete with antique, fashion and eccentric retail shops along with many, many food options.

Revolve Records, while technically in Erskineville, it's so close to Newtown that it made sense to include it here. It's literally just around the corner from Egg Records which is just a stones throw from the station. Also just North-ish of the station you'll find Hum Records and Network Connection. Heading south you've got Repressed Records, Classic Hi Fi and 567 King, leading you to the grittier end of Newtown.

TIP: Check the Diggin' website for some extra stores in this area. www.digginsydney.com

INNER WEST

While not as central as the Newtown cluster, the Inner West shops are all well worth a visit. Just a few bus stops down Parramatta Road you'll find the Vintage Record a few doors down from the Annandale Hotel.

One step further and just 5 minutes down the road from Sydenham train station and you are in bustling Marrickville, one of Sydney's best foodie suburbs. This is the home of RPM Records Posters Memorabilia, a mecca for music lovers and right next door to local live music venue the Gasoline Pony. You find Sounds Espresso – a music-themed cafe nestled in among Marrickville's industrial area where more than a few small bars are popping up.

WESTERN SUBURBS & BEYOND

Parramatta is often called Sydney's second CBD. You can catch a ferry up there from Circular Quay, or a train from Central. The place has a lot to offer in terms of culture, food, drink and shopping. The crew at Beatdisc can provide you with hot tips on how to spend a day locally.

Richmond Records, The Velvet Fog, Mr. Dyke's and Landspeed are the farthest stores on the map, it's great to know that whether you're tripping to the Blue Mountains or Mudgee (the land of milk & honey & wine), Canberra, our nations' capital, or using the Windsor area as a base, you can have a quality dig out those ways too.

THANKS

This guide is a collaborative effort by all the indie record stores listed here and on our website. Assisted by Melbourne's Northside Records and Blisterfinger Design. Thanks to everyone who has supported Diggin' Sydney. Find us online: www.digginsydney.com
